FIND BODIES OF MAN AND WOMAN

Police Say Murder and Suicide in Dutton Street Block

Believe That Man Suicided After Killing Woman He Lived With

No Report Yet From Medical Inspector—Bodies Discovered Sunday Afternoon

The police believe that the finding of the bodies of Adelard or Joseph Lapointe and Mrs. Marie Gelinac, in the house at 231 Dutton street yesterday afternoon by Lieut. Petrie and Sergt. Dwyer points to murder and suicide. Although Medical Examiner Smith has not yet announced a finding after the autopsy taken up this morning at the rooms of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons, where the bodies are held, the police believe that the woman was killed by Lapointe, who committed suicide. Efforts of the police this morning were directed to an inspection of the rooms where the bodies were found and attempts to follow up information about the couple to establish a motive for the crime. In their inspection last evening and this morning the police found no weapons of any kind or liquor. Yesterday afternoon, however, a glass of green liquid which is thought to be poison, was found in one room.

The finding of no weapons of any kind which could connect with the bruised and lacerated condition of the Gelinac woman does not ease the police because they claim that since it is their belief that the woman was killed two or three days before Lapointe killed himself, he would have had ample time to hide evidence of any weapons used.

The police were called on the case yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock by Peter Vacoulos, proprietor of a fruit store at 227 Dutton street, who discovered very disagreeable odors coming from the Lapointe-Gelinac tenement. The owner of the building, Abraham Lescard, was notified. He climbed out upon a coping upon the front of the building and, looking into the front room saw the body of Lapointe, clothed only in a shirt, lying in a bed.

When notified, Lieut. Petrie and Sergt. Dwyer forced an entrance into the tenement. Upon an examination of the body, Medical Examiner T. R. Smith was called immediately. While waiting for the doctor the inspectors, searching through the house, found the body of the Lapointe woman, scantily clad, lying upon a bed in a room off the kitchen. Blood stains were found upon the bed clothes and a deep wound, which is believed to have caused death, was discovered in the side of the woman's head.

Upon his arrival, Dr. Smith immediately ordered the transfer of the bodies to the rooms of Undertakers O'Donnell & Sons.

Further search of the premises revealed that there were dark stains on the man's outer clothes which may prove to be blood stains. In Lapointe's coat pocket was found a card stating that in case of accident, "Mad" Krefle Deroche, 3117 Laurent street, Montreal, should be notified. The card also gave his place of employment as the Saco-Loewell shops.

Officials of that company's office state that Lapointe was known there as Joseph. The identity of the woman was established as Mrs. Gelinac, married to one Alcide Gelinac in 1914, but separated from her husband for the last two years, and living with Lapointe in Dutton street for the last five or six months. The husband is now living in Merrimack street. A sister of the alleged murdered woman, Mrs. Napoleon Lapointe, lives in Ward street. She told the police that she knew Mrs. Gelinac was living with the Lapointe man. The owner of the property states that the couple rented the tenement about six months ago, and were generally known as man and wife. Neighbors say that the couple did not have much conversation with anybody; but passed in and out of their home quietly every day.

One of the tenants of the same building states that the last time she saw Lapointe was at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, one week ago yesterday. At that time he was sitting in his

CLOSING PLAYGROUNDS

Formal Closing of Public Playground Season Will Be Held Thursday

The formal closing of the public playground season of 1920 will be held next Thursday afternoon, on the South common, beginning at 2:30 o'clock, and promises to be one of the proudest affairs of its kind held in Lowell in many years. The closing exercises will be in the form of a pageant staged under the direction of Mrs. Julian E. Keyes in which the difference between organized and unorganized play will be shown in an effective manner. Part one of the pageant will be given over to a demonstration of unorganized playground work, showing the lack of advantages which such work entails, while Part two will bring out the benefits to be derived from the playgrounds when the activities of children are guided and directed by teachers. The idea is wholly novel as far as Lowell is concerned and should prove most interesting, entertaining and instructive.

The playgrounds have been most successful from every angle this season, thousands of children taking advantage of the opportunities to improve themselves physically and to train their hands on the six grounds where teachers had been assigned by the park department.

A number of the playgrounds will have individual closing exercises tomorrow afternoon, to which the parents and friends of the children have been invited. The real formal closing, however, will not come until Thursday.

N. J. PASTOR ATTACKED

Showered With Over-Ripe Tomatoes by Bathers—Also Punched and Mauled

TRENTON, N. J., August 30.—Rev. Frederick Koppman, pastor of the Methodist church at Titusville, N. J., who has been endeavoring to "drive the devil from the hearts of the immodest bathers at Washington's Crossing," was greeted yesterday with a shower of over-ripe tomatoes when he appeared at the resort to lecture them on the immodesty of their attire.

The pastor's automobile was wrecked and he was punched and mauled, and an attempt was made to duck him in the Delaware river. He finally escaped when a constable held the mob back with a drawn revolver.

Later the pastor was found nursing a bruise on his face. His clothing was covered with tomato seeds and juice, and his face streamed with perspiration. He was still full of fight, however, and determined, he said, to appear at the hearing before the township board next Tuesday, to present his evidence on immorality among the summer colonists.

room by the window and spoke down to her.

The same tenant states that the last time she saw Mrs. Gelinac was one week ago last Wednesday. Statements similar to these lead the police to believe that the woman was murdered a long time before the man died. The stage of decomposition in the case of the woman's body was much farther advanced than in the case of the man's body.

Records at the city clerk's office in city hall show that Alcide Gelinac, aged 26, a weaver of 14 Gardner avenue, this city, was married on May 28, 1914, to one Marie Courtols, aged 23, a winer of 183 Tremont street, also this city, by Rev. Joseph Denis of Lowell. The record states that Marie Courtols was a daughter of Alme Courtols and of Philomene Morin Courtols.

Lapointe was in police court about a year ago charged with threatening and was released on probation for six months.

Lapointe worked last Monday at the Saco-Loewell shops and the police now place the time of his suicide between that day and Thursday or Friday of last week. Medical Examiner Smith stated this morning that he could give out no details about the autopsy or other information until he had communicated with the district attorney.

About 40 per cent of the accidents in mines are due to falling rocks or roofs.

BROOKLYN HIT BY TROLLEY STRIKE

Million Residents Forced to Use Improvised Methods of Conveyance

Officials to Run Some Cars By Employment of Strike-breakers

NEW YORK, August 30.—More than one million Brooklyn residents today were reduced to improvised methods of conveyance by the strike of employees of the Brooklyn Transit Co., which tied up its subways, elevated roads and trolleys.

Streets were jammed with pedestrians looking for vehicles. Hundreds of business houses had their trucks and vans stalled at their entrances, but these failed to accommodate the thousands of employees in offices that could furnish no such luxuries.

Officials of the company announced they would run as many trains as possible today, and would employ strikebreakers.

Louis M. Fridiger, attorney for the strikers, insisted the only vital question now was that of arbitration. Federal Judge Julius M. Mayer retained the right to reduce any award in accordance with the bankrupt company's ability to pay.

Grover A. Whalen, commissioner of plants and structures, assembled more than 500 motor busses. Six chartered steamboats and two police boats were put into service to carry passengers from Coney Island and from East river points.

Because of the jam of vehicular traffic during the early rush hours, the Brooklyn, Manhattan and Williamsburg bridges over the East river were made one way thoroughfares. Scenes of confusion were enacted at the bridgeheads where thousands of busses, wagons, touring cars and taxicabs tried to fight their way into the procession moving toward Manhattan.

In Manhattan, a number of the busiest thoroughfares were made one way streets to co-ordinate with the bridges.

ASSAULT SHOE SHINER

Man Charged With Assaulting Girl Is Attacked In His Store

Fortis Tatlos, proprietor of a shoe shine parlor near the corner of Fletcher and Dutton streets, who was charged with felonious assault upon a five year old girl in police court last week and ordered to furnish $1000 bonds for trial this week, was at the mercy of a crowd of men at his shop on two occasions last Saturday night. But for the timely arrival of Inspectors Moore and Conney who came from the direction of Suffolk street, Tatlos would have been lynched. In the fight, he sustained a cut in the back of his head. Windows were broken and other property in his store was destroyed.

About 8 o'clock Saturday night Inspectors Conney and Moore were approaching Tatlos' shop and noticed a large crowd about the entrance. When they came into sight of the men the cry of "police" was given and the mob dispersed. Investigation then showed that the men were after Tatlos who was taking shelter behind a counter in his store.

After this escape the shoe shine proprietor closed up his shop. About 11 or 12 o'clock he returned, supposedly to get his cash. It was then that the men gathered about his shop again and forced their way in to attack Tatlos. In this siege, windows were broken and the defendant was injured. Police again dispersed the crowd.

MISS McDONALD HONORED

An enjoyable shower was held last evening at the home of Miss Alice M. McDonald in Collinsville, when about 30 of her neighbors and friends called to extend their congratulations on the occasion of her marriage to Mr. John A. Patrick, which took place this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. M. A. Gilbride, the pastor. There were numerous gifts of silverware, glassware and linen. Miss Amy Best, Miss Regina McDonald, Miss Alice Mehan and Miss Viclan Andrews entertained with music after which refreshments were served. At the close of the evening Miss McDonald presented Mr. Patrick a handsome leather suitcase. The party broke up at a late hour, all present wishing Mr. Patrick and Miss McDonald a happy future. Senate Investigation of Presidential Campaign Expenses Starts at Chicago

Chairman Hays and White of National Committees and Others Called

CHICAGO, August 30.—Senate investigation of republican and democratic presidential campaign expenditures started here today. The senatorial committee appointed prior to the conventions reopened its inquiry by delving into the national campaign chests for information both as to sums already raised and the amounts which party leaders seek.

Spurred by the charges of Governor Cox that the republican party is raising a $15,000,000 campaign fund and the statement by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor Cox's running mate, that the amount is nearer $20,000,000, the committee was prepared for an exhaustive investigation of the entire question of campaign funds.

Subpoenas were issued for Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, George White, chairman of the democratic committee, Fred Upham and Wilbur March, treasurers of the senatorial and congressional committees of each party. Governor Cox himself was invited to attend or send a representative. He indicated that he would send information to support his charges.

At the outset of the hearing Senator Kenyon introduced the newspaper accounts of Gov. Cox's speech at Pittsburg, the committee's telegram to him and the governor's reply.

Senator Reed argued that the committee's duty had been earlier set as "to find every dollar" collected and expended by both national organizations. He said this course would have been followed whether Gov. Cox had made a charge or not.

Chairman Hays Called

Without a record vote the committee received the newspaper account of Gov. Cox's speeches at Wheeling, Va., Pittsburg and Evansville.

A shorthand account of the Pittsburg speech was also placed in the record.

Will Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, was then called to the stand.

Announcement to this effect was made today by John J. Walsh of the Community club who has received a reply from the state highway authorities to the offer made by the club a short while ago whereby one of its rooms would be used for the examinations.

DREAMS OF DAYS

A few old timers in Lowell will recall the Dracut Nickel Mine incident. A company was organized and shares were offered for sale. The talking was good and suckers were plenty. The certificates for shares eventually made good wall paper. Investors lost everything put in. The "mine" is still over there in Dracut and it's worth just as much today as a producer as it was the day its stock shares were floated in Lowell, Massachusetts.

Yet the fact remains that there were people in Lowell in those days ready and willing to withdraw savings from banks to make investment in Dracut Mining Shares. Ridiculous you will say. It's absolutely true. Those same Lowell Banks of long ago are still in business, still beyond reproach, still paying interest regularly, still ready to pay to you your Principal at minute's notice.

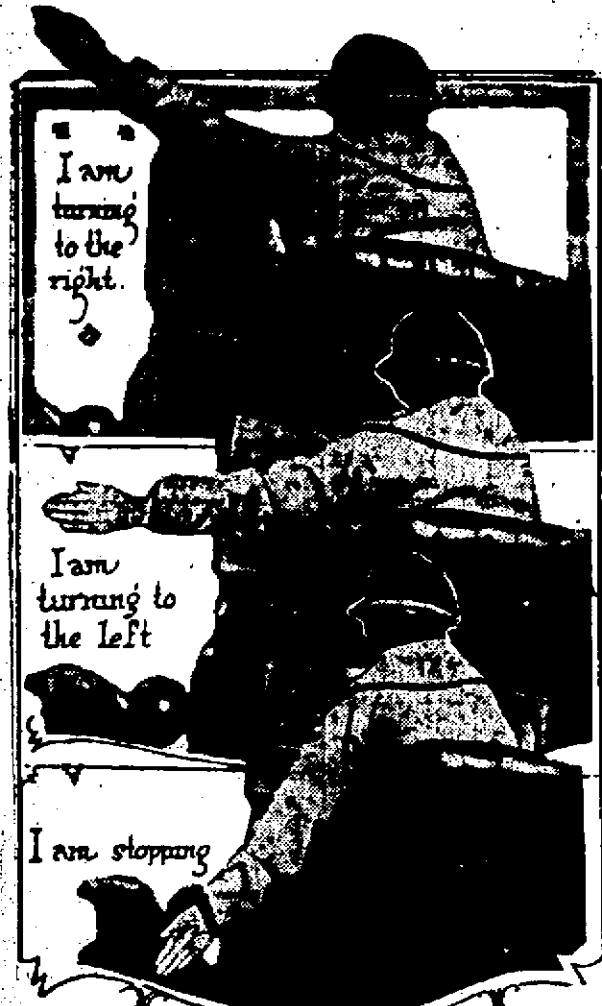

Under the present laws of Massachusetts, the same outrage could be repeated today. Under laws of the State of New York it would not happen. New York at least attempts to protect its Working People, its Savings Accounts, from barefaced swindles.

Telephone Number Changes

Every new issue of the Lowell telephone directory contains on the average 900 changes in telephone numbers.

Between directory issues many telephone users do not make a record of the changed numbers they frequently call.

This necessitates the frequent calling of the Information operator and unnecessary work on the part of both subscribers and operators.

It will assist in maintaining good telephone service if a record of such number changes is kept near your telephone; and if telephone numbers, particularly party-line numbers, are eliminated from letter heads, business cards and advertising of all kinds.

AMERICAN OARSMEN WIN OVER BRITISH

BRUSSELS, Aug. 30. (By Associated Press).—The American eight-oared crew—that from the Naval academy defeated the British eight in the final of the Olympic race for eight-oared boats with coxswains yesterday. The Americans covered the distance in 6 minutes, 5 seconds to the Englishmen's 6 minutes, 5 1/2 seconds.

The time was a new world's record for 2000 meters.

Jack Kelly of the Vesper Boat Club, Philadelphia, single sculls champion of the United States, defeated J. Beresford, Jr., the British sculler, in the final of the single sculling race. Kelly's time was 7 minutes, 35 seconds and Beresford's 7 minutes, 36 seconds.

Notwithstanding his hard singles event, Kelly doubled with the American Paul Costello for the double sculls, the pair winning easily by five lengths from Italy after taking the lead at 1000 meters.

Leander Crew Rowed Down
The eight-oared event was the greatest race of the day. The Leander crew, representing Great Britain, took a slight lead which it increased to half a length at the 1000 meters. Both crews were rowing 28 strokes a minute. Here the American midshipmen increased their power and after each crew had alternately taken the lead, spurred ahead 100 meters from the British. The Americans won by a half-length, sitting up and fresh, while the English eight crossed the line bent over and utterly rowed out.

In the single sculls Kelly crossed the finish line a full length ahead of Beresford, winner of the Diamond sculls at the Henley regatta. But it was a hard race. Beresford jumped into the lead at the start and gained steadily until he was a length to the good at 750 meters. Here Kelly began to move up and 150 meters from the finish was on even terms.

Kelly's last spurt wore down the English champion, who faded away, finishing a boat length behind. Both men were exhausted at the end, but Beresford was in worse shape than the American. They were too tired even to shake hands.

The six-year veteran combination of Switzerland proved too strong for the Americans in the four-oared event, the Swiss winning by three lengths, with the Americans a length and a half ahead of the Norwegian crew.

Europeans Hard Hit
There was much betting on the eight-oared and single scull events, and the European nations, as a rule, backed the British contestants, with the result that they lost considerable money.

The regatta was witnessed by a large crowd on both banks of the canal, including Brand Whitlock, the American ambassador, who greeted the American winners and was photographed with them.

Following are the summaries in yesterday's rowing final:

Four-oared race—Won by Switzerland; American second; Norway, third. Time 6m, 51s.

Single sculls—Won by Kelly, American; Beresford, England, second. Time 7m, 35s.

Pair-oared with coxswain—Won by Italy; France, second; Switzerland, third. Time 7m, 56s.

Double sculls, without coxswain—Won by America, Kelly and Costello; Italy, second, and France, third. Time 7m, 8s.

Eight-oared race—Won by America; England second. Time, 6m, 5s.

America did not enter the double-oared event with coxswain, which was won by Italy in the last hundred meters, with the French and Swiss crews collapsing and paddling at the finish.

Wen Athletic Meet
COLOMBES, France, Aug. 30. (By Associated Press).—The United States again yesterday carried away first honors in a monster athletic meet organized by the Union of Sporting Federations of France. The event had been widely advertised in the French newspapers during the past week as a revenge for the Antwerp Olympic Games.

The American team scored a total of 131 points, Sweden 125 and France 78.

GILLESPIES WORK INTO FIRST PLACE TIE
With the Gillespies creating a tie in the league leadership by their victory over the West Ends on the common Saturday afternoon by the score of 3 to 1, the Twilight league enters upon its final week tonight with the supremacy of the four teams in the organization very much in doubt. The Gillespies and South Ends have each won 5 and lost 2 games.

The schedule comes to an end tomorrow night. Tonight the South Ends play the West Ends and tomorrow the Gillespies meet the Knights of Columbus. If both leaders win their game the race will remain a tie and a play-off will be necessary. The same will hold true if both teams lose. If one wins and the other loses, the winner will be declared Twilight champion. Neither the K. of C. nor West Ends has any chance of landing first place honors.

The Gillespies won Saturday's game by hitting freely the three West End pitchers who faced them—Pomfret, Muline and E. Connors. Pomfret pitched for the Gillespies and had three hits, his own way practically the entire day.

Just skimmed another swell Camel fact! Stop this: Guess I've smoked a million Camels! Pete, they never tired my taste yet!!!! And, old socks, put Camels to the test! Then you'll wise up that Camels leave no unpleasant cigarette aftertaste nor unpleasant cigarette odor!

That's some smoke news, I'll say, when you been trying to fuss the "straight" brands! And, old shor, you ought to know, they gave you a lacing!

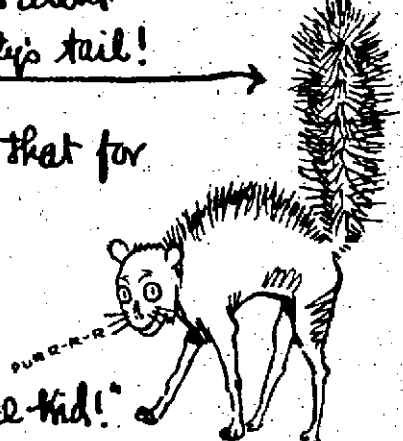

What makes a dent on my disposition is that while Camels are the mildest cigarette and the mellowest cigarette any man can buy they've got all the "body" you ever heard tell of!

CALLAHAN AND TENDLER MATCHED

LAWRENCE, Aug. 30.—Law Tandler of Philadelphia and Frankie Callahan of Boston, formerly of Brooklyn, America's foremost legitimate lightweights, will meet in a 12-round battle at Cuddy Brothers arena, Labor day afternoon. In addition to this bout, Matchmaker Johnny Cuddy has arranged a fine preliminary program, including one six and two eight rounders and the program will start at 3 o'clock. Popular assessments will prevail.

For several weeks, many clubs throughout the country have been dicker for this match, but the Atlas A.A. matchmaker beat them all to it and signed the boys up for his club in Lawrence. That it will be the fistic classic of the decade is certain. Both boys are slashing good fighters. Know the game from A to Z and as each boy possesses a splendid wallop in either hand, the fans are sure of witnessing a mill which will be crowded with action.

Next Jones of Revere will meet Mike Castle of Lawrence in an eight rounder. Kid Thomas and Barney Burke will swap punches for eight rounds. A six-rounder will open the program.

A. W. C. NINE DROPS HARD FOUGHT GAME

In a highly exciting and well played game at Abbot park in Grantville Saturday afternoon the Plymouth Rubber Co. team of Canton defeated the Abbot Worsted Co. 5 to 3. Opposite hitting gave the visitors their victory, but the result was in doubt until the end of the final inning. Summerville was on the mound for the Abbots and Williams for the Plymouth outfit. The latter received the better support. Jimmy Lison featured at the bat with four hits.

Lull On Russo-Polish Battle Front

PARIS, Aug. 30.—Military operations in Poland seem, for the moment at least, to be limited to local actions and Polish commanders are utilizing the period of inactivity along the front to regroup their forces, which were separated during the recent rapid advance. Advices from Warsaw state a wireless message from the Bolshevik commander in chief to Moscow, was intercepted and that in it he made protests against the sending of unarmed reinforcement to the front.

The Lowell charter commission is soon to take over the councilman's chamber at city hall and while it is holding its sessions, the chamber will not be available for other purposes. The letter received by Mr. Walsh today appreciates the Community club's courtesy in the following manner:

Dear Sir:—I wish to acknowledge your letter of August 17 in which you kindly offer your club quarters for the purpose of conducting examinations of applicants for chauffeur's licenses. Your courtesy is much appreciated and from what the examiners tell me, I believe it will be a very good arrangement. Accordingly, I have notified a number of applicants to appear at the club for examination next Friday, September 3rd at 9:30 A. M. There will probably be an afternoon session also, although as a rule examinations will only be conducted in the morning. I will continue to make appointments for Friday, if this is convenient for you. I am sure the public whom you are accommodating will appreciate what you have done for them.

Greater London To Build 50,000 Homes To Head Off Period of Unrest

A scene along Ducane rd in Old Oakes estate in London, showing homes which were built by the London City Council. Inset is a picture of Lord Eustace Percy, chairman of the County Council building loan committee.

BY MILTON BRONNER,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—"Take various plots of ground. Clear them. Build homes on them. Distribute around until the patient is better."

This is a tremendous medical prescription.

The patient is the giant city of the world.

The doctor is the London county council.

The cost is a quarter of a billion dollars.

The government authorities, in entering upon this gigantic undertaking, have reasoned thus:

Lack of houses means homeless people.

Restless people mean people who listen to agitators.

People who listen to agitators become revolutionists.

Revolutionists mean a break-down of ordered liberty and government.

Seeks to Build Homes

The result is that the London county council, alive to its responsibilities and clothed with full power by the parliament is seeking to build homes for the people.

Greater London consists of 23 boroughs, each of which has its own mayor and council. But the boroughs cannot spend more than an English penny (2 cents) in the pound ($4.86) of taxes collected, upon housing schemes.

However, the London county council, which is the supreme body in Greater London, can come to the aid of the boroughs and it is doing so by various loans. Not long ago it gave the boroughs help to the tune of $5,000,000. Just at present it is engaged in floating a popular six percent housing loan for $25,000,000.

The boroughs will build and own the houses and will be the landlords. In some cases the tenants will be allowed to buy the houses in 15 or 20 annual instalments.

Plan 50,000 Homes

Ultimately the plan is for the boroughs, aided by the London county council, to build 50,000 new homes. It is estimated these houses will cost about $5000 each.

They will be built 5 to 12 to the acre, so as to allow for little front yards, and back yard gardens. They will, in the main, have two or three bedrooms, a living room, sitting room and kitchen.

The county council will continue to float loans as long as the building program is uncompleted and as long as the market will absorb its loans.

The chairman of the loan committee is Lord Eustace Percy, and among his colleagues are the labor mayors of some of the London boroughs.

Old Oakes estate is a good example of what the county council can do. Here, on a site of 54 acres, 14 acres have been developed and 319 cottages built. Six hundred more are to be added.

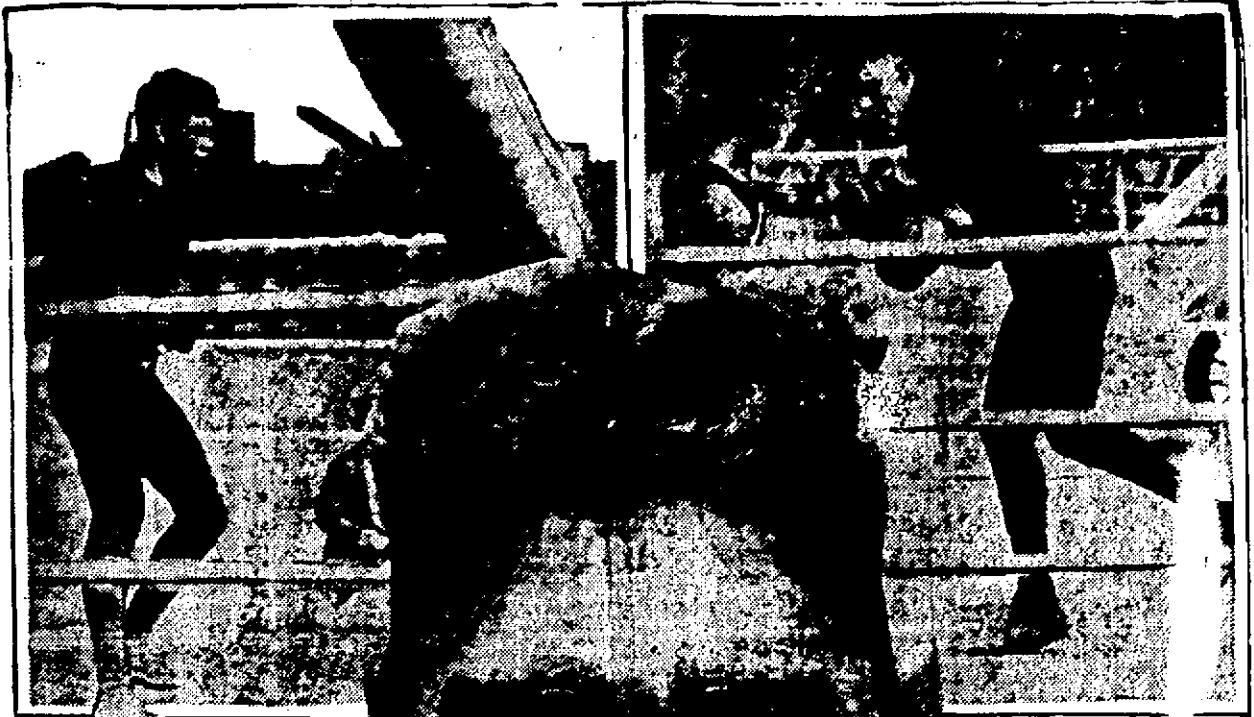

Future plans are to make Dagenham, an estate of 3000 acres, the first "made to order" town in the world. Twenty thousand houses are planned for this place, which will probably mean a town of 100,000 people. Its estimated cost is $100,000,000.

Some 150 acres of the site will be reserved for park space and 50 acres for playing fields. Sixty-eight acres will be taken up by 26 schools and there will be allowances for boulevards and wide avenues.

Smaller places will be developed as follows: Rochampton, 1200 houses; Bellingham, 2000 houses; Grove Park, 5000 houses, and Castelnau, 1000 houses.

Dempsey Still Ring Tiger and Ready To Meet Challenger Billy Miske —Layoff of 14 Months Hasn't Slowed Down Socking Champion

BY DEAN SNYDER

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Aug. 29.—Champion Jack Dempsey is still the tiger fighter in the ring and the boy outside it.

If a fourteen months' layoff has made any difference in his fighting prowess it doesn't show in any of his work as he goes about the daily routine of training for his Labor Day will here with Billy Miske of St. Paul. No boxer ever got more actual enjoyment out of fighting than the present champion. The only trouble with Dempsey is that he has to be held back from overdoing. He tears into his sparring partners like it was a real fight.

Dempsey doesn't know how to pull his punches, as any of those who have boxed with him, including Jess Willard, will testify.

Rumors that he had grown fat and soft while making pictures is without credence. His exhibition boxing in New York served to put him on edge and to swing him back into his old stride.

His weight varies from two to three pounds over 150 pounds. He says he'll bring it down to 157 before Sept. 6. There is no apparent superfluous fat on his muscular body.

How Taught

When asked if he believed he was as good as when he won the title, Dempsey thought a little while before answering.

"That is hard to say," he finally replied. "I ought to be. I'm a year older now. That ought to toughen me. I feel stronger, and then I've developed more around the back and shoulders."

"If there is any difference in me now than when I fought at Toledo it may be that my eyes aren't quite as quick, perhaps, as they were then. A fighter has to be going regular in order to keep his eyes in trim. Mike is a strong, tough fellow. They say he is heavier and in better health than when I boxed him at both St. Paul and Philadelphia two years ago. I hope he fights me for those are the kind of birds I like best."

His camp is pitched within a hundred yards of the battle arena. Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons, the man who has sunk a cold $100,000 in the Labor Day card already, has turned over his cottage to Dempsey and his retinue. Charley White used the same camp in preparation for his bout with Benny Leonard.

Likes the Water

Dempsey drinks a lot of the Benton Harbor mineral water. There is a pump at the rear of his cottage where he gets it fresh and sparkling from deep down in the Michigan sands.

He starts the day's work with a five-mile run, accompanied by the ever faithful Bill Tate and Joe Gans, his colored sparring partners. The roads are soft and sandy. The big fellow three-foot length and expressed his disgust with a muttered "damn."

The Woodlander was given a battle for low gray honors by W. A. Falvey laying unattached and Henry J. Thompson won the best net prize, with shooters scored 76 and 77 respectively. Thompson won the best net prize, with J. J. Ward, a clubmate, second.

There was much in Guilford's game to applaud and almost equally as much to condone. In all but one or two instances in his 18 holes, his tee shots were some of them of prodigious length. For instance, he leaped into one No. 3 that carried the far corner way down the fairway and came to rest just a few yards from the well-known ditch. It was a regular he-poke and the gallery gods gave him his due. His work from the rough whenever his ball wandered from the orthodox line was magnificent and in fact from fairway to fairway he was supreme, but on the greens he stumbled and frittered away shots like a schoolboy. Not one long putt went down in the writer's memory while he had vivid pictures of three-footers who didn't even travel up to the cup on the proper line.

A perfectly fair criticism of Guilford's game, if one has the temerity to attempt such, is that he is fed up on golf and is stale, much after the fashion of an over-trained track man. He is enough the natural golfer to overcome such a handicap in his long name, but it crops out near the cup.

Spargo tutes around an 18 handicap and naturally is not to be reckoned with for a gross prize in any tournament, but for all that he was guilty of a number of superior shots, particularly on approach, which he seems to master with unusual ease.

At the close of the tournament Guilford and Spargo played nine holes paired against Henry Thomson and Howard N. Morton and the match ended even-Stephen.

The officials of Mt. Pleasant did everything possible for the comfort of the visiting players and played their hospitality string out to the limit. The weather was fine and everything pertaining to the tourney was a success.

JESSE GUILFORD

Guilford's game over the local course was streaky in the extreme. Playing with W. C. Spargo of the Boston Traveler, Jesse's thoughts seemed far afield at times (perhaps they were) over the Engineers club course next week) but, whatever the reason, he slipped up on crippled putts of two and perched on a limb a good many times every day. Neighboring children have all been made his close friends and confidants. They like the plums that Jack shakes down for them, but they like him, too. He has always had a great way of attracting children to him.

The intervening time before he does his ring work is taken up by reading the papers, a light lunch at noon, a game of solitaire, sometimes a nap, and perhaps a spin to the downtown headquarters in Promoter Fitzsimmons' big red roadster.

Reaches Everything

His training ring is just in front of the ball park grandstand. He boxes at 2.30, Mike works out at 2.30 at Ike Bernstein's quarters, about three-quarters of a mile up the road. It is arranged this way so that the crowds can see both Mike and Dempsey get in battle form. The fans rush from one camp to another trying to get the inside dope on the match.

All the while Dempsey is working he rushes everything—first the punching bag, then his sparring partners, and then finishes off by whacking the daylight out of old "Sail" the 250-pound leather-covered sand bag.

He goes three rounds with both Tate and Gans. Dempsey uses the towering form of Tate for body punching practice, but he also takes some pretty stiff smacks from Tate's powerful swings. That toughens him up and he likes it. Gans weighs about 145 pounds. Dempsey has to speed up to keep the Panama boy away from him.

Ideal Workouts

This combination of sparring partners is almost ideal, for it gives him a workout for both punching and fast moving.

Harry Geb, who boxes Marty Farrell on the same Labor Day card, completes Dempsey's staff.

Dempsey isn't going to be caught napping. He is eager to be all out, tenders and give them their chance without favor or exception.

Whether he is as good a man now as he was when he socked Willard into that never-to-be-forgotten dance of pitiful helplessness cannot be ascertained until after he meets Mike. Any boxer needs a few fights under his belt before he is going top.

INTERVENE IN STRIKES

Church and Pulpit Urged to Act to Compare Labor and Capital Differences

NEW YORK, August 28.—The church and the pulpit were called upon to intervene in a "Labor Sunday message" issued yesterday by the Rev. Worth M. Tippy, executive secretary of the social service commission of the Federal council of the Churches of Christ in America.

He declared that the church must stand for the right of labor to organize and take collective action under proper restraints and safeguards for public welfare and that the church should not be prevented from taking this step either by reactionary employers or by "evils in the labor movement."

The Rev. Mr. Tippy pointed out that the nation had suffered a tremendous economic loss because of the strikes last year and that deeper perils lay in threatened destruction of the spirit of co-operation and goodwill between capital and labor. "The church watches the deepening conflict with profound concern," he continued. "If it cannot stand aloof, at whatever risk of becoming involved in the controversy it must go into the midst of contending forces, if possible between them. It must bring to bear every ounce of influence which it possesses to bring these contending groups together, and to induce them to work out permanent and effective means of co-operation."

He pointed out that there was need to devise a method by which employers and workers can get together and keep together, so as to put heart and power into production and give just returns to both groups. "If no form of labor organization is permitted and if not only strikes but labor organization itself is fought to a finish, there appears no way out of our troubles, but rather a deepening of them. We shall have an autocratic management of industry on the one side and either a kind of serfdom on the other or a militant, bitter, and class-conscious organization of labor growing yearly more revolutionary. That is just the danger of the present hour.

"The church cannot be hesitant here. When, as may often happen, the inclusiveness of its fellowship precludes a co-operative judgment on the part of the whole church, the pulpit must nevertheless be true to its prophetic office. The case is hopeless if employers will not allow collective action by their workers. The church must stand for the right of organization and collective action, under proper ethical restraints and safeguards for public welfare.

"The church cannot allow itself to be stopped from this course either by pressure from reactionary employers on the one hand or by manifest evils in the labor movement on the other. It must be strong enough to attack these evils and to resist the pressure. It must urge employers especially Christian employers, work out democratic principles in their establishments with due time for investigation and experiment. The important matter is not just what is followed, but that the start is made and that everything that is done be the road to a definite goal—the development of democratic factory organization in which all truly co-operate and which is for the benefit of each and all."

RETURNS FROM MADISON

Chamber of Commerce Assistant Secretary at Summer School in Wisconsin

John J. O'Rourke, assistant secretary of the Lowell chamber of commerce, returned to his desk this morning after spending two weeks at the annual American City bureau summer school at Madison, Wis., where more than 300 commercial executives representing 15 states gathered for an intensive course in commercial administration.

Mr. O'Rourke speaks most enthusiastically of the school and its opportunities for the development and interchange of new ideas in chamber of commerce work, but he is no less enthusiastic over the wonderful advantages and attractions of Madison, "a model city."

Madison is situated between two large lakes giving it a most invigorating climate even in the warmest months of the year. During the winter its temperature often falls to 30 below zero, but Mr. O'Rourke was told that the inhabitants of the community rarely suffered from the cold because of the dry air.

One of the outstanding features of the city, Secretary O'Rourke reports, is its park system which is not featured by the city as is the case with most municipalities, but rather controlled by an organization of individual citizens known as the Madison Park and Pleasure Driveway association. Since its inception this association has received more than $600,000 in individual donations by public-spirited citizens and so efficiently has it done its work that the municipal authorities now make an annual appropriation to supplement funds raised by donations.

The result is one of the prettiest park systems in the country. Twenty-five miles of driveways line the two lakes on the city's borders and hundreds of acres are given over to show places.

The University of Wisconsin, the place where the American City bureau held its summer school sessions, has given the city its chief cause for renown. In addition, it is the capital of the state. There are a few industries there, but not of an extensive character.

POPE IN THE MOVIES FOR FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

ROME, Aug. 29. (By the Associated Press)—For the first time in history a pope has posed for the moving pictures. Not only was permission granted for the filming of scenes in the Lourdes chapel grounds, but Pope Benedict yesterday took a leading part, posing first with various groups and then for "close-ups" and expressing much amusement at the persistence of the American photographers, who went within four feet of the pontiff and snapped him smiling into the camera.

This occurred after the pope had celebrated mass for the visiting American Knights of Columbus in the open Vatican gardens and had given holy communion personally to each knight. Vatican officials were amazed that the pope, appeared in these scenes for about 20 minutes and which proved the most complete pictures ever taken of Vatican ceremonies.

The pope asked Supreme Knight Flaherty by both hands, blessing the knights of America. He welcomed the visitors in a short address, which was translated by Archbishop Ceretti, formerly of the papal delegation at Washington. The pope drank a cup of coffee with the knights after celebrating mass and after he had posed for the pictures drove through the gardens, flanked by knights, to the Vatican.

When the Vatican officials objected to the pope being photographed, he said: "Let the Americans have what they want."

Legitimate Short Cuts in Summer Housekeeping
Save Many Steps Irsome Tasks on Hot Days

THERE IS A TIME FOR EVERYTHING—AND ESPECIALLY IN SUMMER THERE IS A TIME FOR RESTING IN YOUR HAMMOCK.

BY SISTER MARY

"Why, the idea of finding you in the kitchen! What on earth makes you scrub on such a hot afternoon? And why in the afternoon, anyhow?"

I had stopped to find a companion for a drive. I thought to see her resting in the porchswing, but instead I found her—scrubbing the kitchen floor. At 3 o'clock of an August afternoon! Imagine!

"Of course, one's floors must be clean," a friend agreed. "But why not do the scrubbing in the cool of the morning?"

"I ironed all morning and half of yesterday afternoon, so this is my first chance," she excused herself. "I have no maid, you know."

Yes, I know. Neither have I a maid. Such is the usual circumstance nowadays. And I began to wonder how many more women doing their own housework, might be scrubbing, or ironing, or washing, or already, beginning to fuss over the preparation of the evening meal, at 3 o'clock on a hot, summer afternoon.

Conserve Energy

There are so many ways to save energy and eliminate discomfort in the doing of household tasks, if the mistress of the house will just let herself be converted. It isn't laziness, it isn't poor housekeeping—it is conservation of health and energy. For instance, why spend hours ironing sheets? Put back on the bed unironed, they retain the sunshine and ozone which would be ironed out of them otherwise. And a person must be very critical indeed to object to their appearance, if a little care has been taken in hanging them straight on the drying line.

I think a lot of judgment should be used in ironing, anyhow. Kitchen towels don't need ironing; kitchen aprons need only a "smoothing over"; in fact, quite a few garments need not be dampened before they are thus "smoothened over." In the same class of saving is the stunt of mending and draining dishes, in a special rack for the purpose, instead of wiping them.

Hot Weather Meals

You might, several times each week, go further and eliminate the dishwashing ceremonial entirely. I think occasional porch meals served on paper plates and in paper cups are delightful. However, they are served, meals should be simple, one-plate affairs in the summer. If they're planned right, a fireless cooker can be made to do most of the work. Then, too, it's a good plan to cook enough at one time for two meals. When boiling potatoes to mash, enough more can be boiled to make creamed potatoes for the next meal. Apple sauce, salad dressing, beets and such things can just as easily as not be cooked in two-meal amounts.

New Luncheon Sets

It's a funny thing, but some people will persist in using big, linen table cloths straight through the summer. Personally, I think dollies and luncheon sets are much more attractive. I go a step further, and favor the new luncheon sets made of oilcloth instead of linen. This oilcloth is especially designed for the purpose and is decorated in any number of patterns which are charming. Then should someone spill the "beans," just apply a damp cloth, and—Presto, your luncheon set is once more clean.

Nowadays, it seems to me that very few women leave draperies up during the summer months, to catch the dust. Heavy rugs, too, are usually replaced by fibre.

By the way, a last word about that floor-scrubbing ordeal. If the refrigerator is in the kitchen a path of newspapers for the iceman to walk on won't hurt his feelings, and will save the floor.

James Shea, who will leave Wednesday for Lynn, where she will make her home, was given recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Shanahan of 189 Princeton street. Those who took part in the musicale were Francis J. Gorman, Misses Marguerite and Alice Gorman, William McCarthy, Donald Shanahan and others. In the latter part of the evening refreshments were served and dancing enjoyed.

FUNERAL TODAY OF JAMES A. SULLIVAN

The funeral of James A. Sullivan, deputy commissioner of immigration, took place this morning from the home of his brother, Jeremiah Sullivan, 215 High street at 9:30 o'clock. The long automobile cortege headed by Rev. Joseph A. Curtis as deacon and Rev. Dr. James J. A. Supple as sub-deacon. Seated in the sanctuary were Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., Rev. John Duffy, O.M.I., of Tewksbury; Rev. Francis Keenan of this city; Rev. David J. Murphy of North Billerica and Rev. Conrad J. Quirbach of Newton. The choir, augmented for the occasion rendered the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Miss Frances Tigue, James E. Donnelly and D. S. O'Brien. At the offertory "Domine Jesu Christe" was sung by Thomas P. Boulier. At the close of the mass the choir rendered the "De Profundis," the solos being sustained by Mr. Donnelly. After the funeral there was a delegation of about 50 formerly or at present connected with the immigration department of Boston, Fall River, Providence, and New Bedford, and delegations of the Knights of Columbus and the Lowell lodge of Elks. The K. of C. delegates were Hugh Molloy, Charles Holmes, James J. Gallagher and Patrick Nerina. The bearers were John J. Mullane and Dr. McNally, representing the K. of C.; John Farrell, representing the Lowell lodge of Elks and Frank Quinn, John A. Ryder and M. J. Leonard, representing the immigration department. The ushers were Albert H. Sparks and Henry J. Quirbach. Burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Dennis A. Murphy, assisted by Rev. Fr. Flynn, O.M.I., Rev. Fr. Curtis, Rev. Fr. Keenan and Rev. Fr. Quirbach. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

About eighteen years ago Mr. Sullivan was appointed in the immigration staff and assigned to New Bedford, remaining there five years. Subsequently he was made inspector of immigration at Providence, where he served for three years before being appointed to the office which he held at the time of his death. Commissioner Sullivan took a prominent part in the sweeping roundup of alleged radicals in this district last January.

Deceased was well known and popular in this city. For many years he served as president of the old Burke Temperance institute, in which he did much to benefit the young men of that day.

BOY STILL MISSING
Manuel Ferreira, aged 7 years, son of Joseph Ferreira of 454 Gorham street, has been missing from home since last Tuesday. The little boy left the house in the morning of that day to play, and has not been seen since either by neighbors or playmates. At the time of his disappearance, the lad was barefooted and wore blue pants, white shirt and a blue cap. His hair is sandy-colored and his eyes brown. The police were notified of the disappearance last week, but have found no trace of the youngster. It is thought that he may have wandered to Hale's brook, which is near his home.

There have been 355 fires since Wednesday.

Belfast Saturday night was the worst since what is popularly known as the battle of Kashmir road. Eleven were killed and nearly 100 wounded, many of them seriously. All the killed were young men, the victims of gunshot wounds. Ballymacarret, a suburb of Belfast, responded to the lord mayor's appeal and remained fairly quiet, but Saturday afternoon Cullingtree

Rioting and Destruction of Property Continue in Belfast—135 Fires Since Last Wednesday

RIOTING WORST SINCE OUTBREAK

Up to 1 O'Clock Today Four Deaths Had Occurred As Result of Disorders

Troops Opened Fire to Clear
Streets—11 Killed in Saturday Night's Riots

BELFAST, August 30.—Today's rioting was said by the police to be the worst Belfast has yet seen. Up to one o'clock this afternoon, it was definitely known that four deaths had occurred as a result of the disorders. These included Grace Orr, who was shot when troops opened fire to clear a street in the unionist quarter.

Numerous persons with bullet wounds were admitted to the Royal Victoria and Mater hospital.

In the fighting between Sinn Feiners and unionist shipyard workers, many shops were wrecked in York and North Streets. The military held York street with armored cars at mid-day. A girl in a green blouse headed the Sinn Fein attack in York street, keeping a dozen yards ahead of her nearest male companion.

Before two o'clock, the death list was increased by the shooting of a small boy by a sniper. A curfew law will be introduced in Belfast tomorrow night, extending from 10.30 p. m. to 5 o'clock in the morning.

Unarmed shipyard employees were attacked on their way to work by Sinn Feiners and shooting soon began. Soldiers arrived soon after the disorder commenced and assumed a firing position across York street, giving the crowd three minutes to clear the thoroughfare. Most of the people fled to cover.

Other disorders occurred again today, in the neighborhood of Ewatts Row, a unionist quarter, which was attacked by Sinn Feiners yesterday. Shops were wrecked and to clear the streets, the troops opened fire from an armored car.

Falls road, which traverses Joseph Devlin's political division, was simmering early today, and excitement also prevailed in other affected areas. A party of shipyard workers, headed by a man carrying the Union Jack, proceeded up North Street, a wide thoroughfare leading from Royal Avenue to Shankill road, and wheeled

The theft was committed in Great road, Littleton, yesterday, the offender using a revolver in the act. When arrested, he stated that he worked in the Saco-Lowell shops in this city. The local police found no records of any Fred Lancelotti.

The defendant was held under $1000 bonds in Ayer police court this morning when his case was continued for trial.

SPECIAL SESSION OF GRAND JURY

Atty. Gen. Allen to Present
Evidence in Ponzi and Old
Colony Exchange Cases

Chief Justice Aiken Authorizes Dist. Atty. Pelletier to Call Jurors

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—The operations of Charles Ponzi's Securities Exchange Co., and of the Old Colony Foreign Exchange Co., will be the subject of investigation by the Suffolk county grand jury.

Attorney General Allen who has before him the claims of some 11,000 persons for more than $5,000,000 against the Ponzi project and of several hundred creditors with claims of $300,000 against the Old Colony Co., made formal request today that the grand jury be convened in special session to hear the evidence which he has obtained in connection with the two schemes.

The superior court is not in session, but Chief Justice Aiken from his home in Greenfield authorized District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier to call the jurors together on Wednesday.

For the present, action in the state courts against Ponzi will have no effect as he is a federal prisoner at the East Cambridge jail on charges of using the mails with fraudulent intent. Three of the officials of the other quick-rich enterprise are now at liberty on bail under charges of larceny.

ASSAULT SHOE SHINER

Man Charged With Assaulting Girl Is Attacked In His Store

Fortis Tatissos, proprietor of a shoe shine parlor near the corner of Fletcher and Dutton streets, who was charged with felonious assault upon a five year old girl in police court last week and ordered to furnish $1000 bonds for trial this week, was at the mercy of a crowd of men at his shop on two occasions last Saturday night. But for the timely arrival of Inspectors Moore and Cooney who came from the direction of Suffolk street, Tatissos, the police believe, would have been lynched. In the fight, he sustained a cut to the back of his head. Windows were broken and other property in his store was destroyed.

About 8 o'clock Saturday night Inspectors Cooney and Moore were approaching Tatissos' shop and noticed a large crowd about the entrance. When they came into sight of the men the cry of "police" was given and the mob dispersed. Investigation then showed that the men were after Tatissos who was taking shelter behind a counter in his store.

After this escapade the shoe shine proprietor closed up his shop. About 11 or 12 o'clock he returned, supposedly to get his cash. It was then that the men gathered about his shop again and forced their way in to attack Tatissos. In this siege, windows were broken and the defendant was injured. Police again dispersed the crowd.

BROOKLYN HIT BY TROLLEY STRIKE

Million Residents Forced to Use Improvised Methods of Conveyance

Officials to Run Some Cars
By Employment of Strikebreakers

NEW YORK, August 30.—More than one million Brooklyn residents today were reduced to improvised methods of conveyance by the strike of employees of the Brooklyn Transit Co., which tied up its subways, elevated roads and trolleys.

Streets were jammed with pedestrians looking for vehicles. Hundreds of business houses had their trucks canvass the homes of their employees, but these failed to accommodate the thousands of employees in offices that could furnish no such luxuries.

Officials of the company announced they would run as many trains as possible today, and would employ strikebreakers.

Louis M. Fridiger, attorney for the strikers, insisted the only vital question now was that of arbitration. Federal Judge Julius M. Mayer retained the right to reduce any award in accordance with the bankrupt company's ability to pay.

Grover A. Whalen, commissioner of plants and structures, assembled more than 500 motor busses. Six chartered steamboats and two police boats were put into service to carry passengers from Coney Island and from East river points.

Because of the jam of vehicular traffic during the early rush hours, the Brooklyn, Manhattan and Williamsburg bridges over the East river were made one way thoroughfares.

Scenes of confusion were enacted at the bridgeheads where thousands of busses, wagons, touring cars and taxicabs tried to fight their way into the procession moving toward Manhattan. In Manhattan, a number of the busiest thoroughfares were made one way streets to co-ordinate with the bridges.

Will Be Held at Commu-

Beginning next Friday morning weekly examinations of candidates for chauffeurs' licenses from Lowell and surrounding towns will be held by the state highway authorities at the Lowell Community club in Dutton street rather than in the old councilmanic chamber at city hall, as has been the custom for many years.

Announcement to this effect was made today by John J. Walsh of the Community club who has received a reply from the state highway authorities to the offer made by the club a short while ago whereby one of its

FIND BODIES OF MAN AND WOMAN

Police Say Murder and Suicide In Dutton Street
Block

Believe That Man Suicided
After Killing Woman He Lived With

The police believe that the finding of the bodies of Adelard or Joseph Lapointe and Mrs. Marie Gellinas, in the house at 231 Dutton street yesterday afternoon by Lieut. Petrie and Sergt. Dwyer points to murder and suicide.

Efforts of the police this morning were directed to an inspection of the rooms where the bodies were found and attempts to follow up information about the couple to establish a motive for the crime. In their inspection last evening and this morning the police found no weapons of any kind nor any liquor. Yesterday afternoon, however, a glass of green liquid which is thought to be poison, was found in one room.

The finding of no weapons of any kind which could connect with the bruised and lacerated condition of the Gellinas woman does not phase the police because they claim that since it is their belief that the woman was dead two or three days before Lapointe killed himself, he would have had ample time to hide evidence of any weapons used.

The police were called on the case yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock by Peter Vacoulos, proprietor of a fruit store at 237 Dutton street, who discovered very disagreeable odors coming from the Lapointe-Gellinas tenement. The owner of the building, Abraham Lescard, was notified. He climbed out upon a coping upon the front of the building and, looking into the front room saw the body of Lapointe, clothed only in a shirt, lying in a bed.

When notified, Lieut. Petrie and Sergt. Dwyer forced an entrance into the tenement. Upon an examination of the body, Medical Examiner T. B. Smith was called immediately. While waiting for the doctor the inspectors, searching through the house, found the body of the Gellinas woman, scantily clad, lying upon a bed in a room off the kitchen. Blood stains were found upon the bed clothes and

New England May Be Included In Harding's Swing
Around the Circle

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 30.—Plans for speaking trips to be made by Senator Harding are nearing completion, and announcement probably will be made soon of three or four of the places outside Ohio where he will deliver addresses.

New York and Chicago are understood to be virtually certain to be on the list and the claims of a number of cities in the middle west and west are under consideration. Denver, Salt Lake City and Spokane mark the western arc of the swing around the circle as it now is under discussion, but the nominees have been strongly urged to go all the way to the Pacific coast. It has been suggested that the candidate pay his respects to neighboring states on the east by speaking at Philadelphia and Wheeling.

It is understood that either St. Louis or Kansas City probably will be given an opportunity to hear the senator and one speech in New England is said to have been discussed. The republican managers expect to keep the number of addresses made away from Marion within narrow limits, and they declare emphatically that there will be no way station speeches or barnstorming.

It is considered unlikely that any speaking engagements outside Ohio will be made for dates earlier than October except the one already announced for Sept. 8th at the Minnesota state fair.

The nominees list of front porch appointments will occupy his attention almost exclusively up to the last week of September, but so far no dates have been slated for the final month of the campaign.

For the Minnesota trip, Senator Harding will leave here Sept. 6 and return Sept. 3. The senator will speak in St. Paul Sept. 8.

BODY OF NEGRO FOUND HANGING FROM TREE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 30.—The body of Claude Chandler, negro, who last night was taken from the jail here by a group of 30 masked men, was found early today hanging from a tree near Council Grove, about eight miles west of this city, according to a message to the sheriff's office here.

Chandler was arrested Saturday in a raid upon a moonshine still near Arcadia, Okla., in which Stanton Weiss, a federal agent, Deputy Sheriff Homer Anderson and Charles Chandler, father of Claude Chandler, were killed.

State Convention

At the state convention of the American Legion held in Springfield Friday and Saturday of last week the local delegates, to the number of 15, opposed the promotion preference act for ex-service men in the employ of the government, the endorsing of political candidates by the convention and also the proposition that the preamble of the legion convention should be revised so that legion members might be allowed to enter politics and at the same time hold office in the organization. The local delegates also strongly opposed any discussion of the question as to whether negro ex-service men should be allowed to sit, vote and act in legion meetings or whether they should be obliged to organize posts of their own.

The Lowell men maintained that such a matter should not be brought before the convention and that it should be left for consideration by the individual posts affected.

In speaking of the veterans' promotion preference act, whereby ex-service men in the employ of the government would receive advancement before civilian employees, Adjutant James Mc-

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Chairman Hays of the republican national committee today submitted to the senate committee investigating campaign expenses, a letter from George T. Carroll, as president of the New Jersey association of liquor interests. He read from it sentences soliciting funds to carry on Cox propaganda with the ultimate object of obtaining an amendment to the Volstead act to permit sale of light wines and beers. The letter called Governor Cox a "pronounced wet."

Mr. Hays charged that the democratic organization had planned to raise from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 to finance its presidential campaign. Senator Kenyon asked Mr. Hays if the committee had received any contributions from corporations.

"No," the witness said. "You estimate then that the campaign will cost about $5,000,000?"

"Yes, but that includes more than $1,000,000 spent in state campaigns and assigned to the states."

Senator Reed questioned Mr. Hays to bring out whether the state committees, after receiving their shares of the funds raised under the joint agreement with the national committee, could continue to raise funds. He was told they could not.

"Have any men of large means been consulted regarding a plan for underwriting the republican campaign?" Mr. Reed asked.

"No, we have borrowed some money but nothing else has been done."

"That is a straight loan?"

"Yes."

Heard Many Rumors
"Have you heard of any promises or agreements with any one whereby they will receive any favors in event of republican victory?" Mr. Reed continued.

"No."

"Have you heard of the democratic party making any promises to anyone?"

"Well, there is the statement about the British ambassador contributing to Mr. Cox's campaign, and I have heard a lot of rumors by irresponsible persons in which I have taken no particular stock."

Mr. Hays summarized the charges of Governor Cox regarding a "conspiracy to buy the presidency" and said to each specification:

"That statement is false."

Exhaustive Investigation
CHICAGO, August 30.—Senate investigation of republican and democratic presidential campaign expenditures started here today. The senatorial committee appointed prior to the conventions reopened its inquiry by delving into the national campaign chests for information both as to sums already raised and the amounts which party leaders seek.

Spurred by the charges of Governor Cox that the republican party is raising a $15,000,000 campaign fund and the statement by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor Cox's running mate, that the amount is nearer $20,000,000.

Washington, Aug. 30.—President Wilson today approved the majority report of the anthracite coal commission increasing the wages of contract miners 20 per cent over present rates.

Miners employed as company men are given an increase of 17 per cent and the same amount is given "consideration miners" and miners laborers and monthly men.

The findings, the report said, would fix a minimum rate of 52½ cents per hour for the lower paid men in the anthracite industry.

The president struck out of the report a provision fixing the terms of retroactive payments under the award which he said was outside the commission's jurisdiction. Thomas Kennedy, chairman of the miners' scale committee, had protested this feature of the award, he said.

Anthracite mine workers will receive about $15,000,000 in back pay under the retroactive feature of the award which makes it effective April 1, 1920, and the total increase awarded to the 175,000 miners will average at least $55,000,000 annually.

Wilson Approves Hard Coal Wage Award

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—President Wilson today approved the majority report of the anthracite coal commission increasing the wages of contract miners 20 per cent over present rates.

The majority's conclusions, says that the award "offers no justification for any advance in the retail prices of coal but on the other hand, is consistent with a decline in prices." Any sharp advance in retail prices the report added, "could not be charged to the operators, the miners or the award."

The minority report, signed by Commissioner Ferry, while departing from the majority's conclusions, says that officers of the United Mine Workers, "will of course accept and carry out this majority award with the utmost good faith."

"While the adjudication or any dispute necessarily results in some disappointment," the president said in his letter to the commission, "I am sure that the spirit with which you have acted will receive the commendation of the great bulk of the American people."

BIG DEMAND FOR AUTOS

The Smaller Type of American Machine Wanted in Europe

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—An unprecedented demand for American automobiles of the smaller type in Europe was noticed by S. A. Miles, automobile show manager of the National Automobile club of commerce, during his three-months' trip through England, France and neighboring countries, from which he has just returned.

"The English and French are keen for American cars, are buying them now at abnormally high prices and probably will continue to do so," Miles said.

"As a result of the war, all Europe, and in fact all the world, has been completely sold on motor transportation; both for persons as well as merchandise. The truck business continues to grow, especially as the railroads over there are overhauled.

"The small type of car seems to be favored. Of these great numbers are seen on the road, but of the big cars not nearly so large a portion as we see at home. People there are not anxious to buy expensive cars and, moreover, the cost of operation has its effect.

"Gasoline, which by the way, is a very much better grade than we have here, is selling at about 75 cents an English gallon, which is high compared with our price here. This is the result of high taxes and the fact that all gasoline has to be imported.

"I think the English as well as the French are pretty well satisfied that they get high value for their money in the purchase of an American car.

"The European makers naturally are putting forth every effort to offset our trade in cars and trucks in other countries. The rivalry is keen but friendly. European manufacturers not overlooking the fact that America has a great advantage in the price at which it can sell its cars throughout the world, owing to our big home market that permits quantity production.

"Italy has ruled that 95 per cent of motor cars must be exported. France has just taken off the embargo on cars although continuing a 45 per cent duty.

"In general, I would say that trade conditions over there are rather extraordinary at this time. Cars are selling at figures far beyond their actual value, simply because of a shortage."

OPERA HOUSE TO REOPEN LABOR DAY

Of the many pleasant surprises in store for theatre folk of Lowell and vicinity for the coming stock season which opens at the Opera House on Labor day, none will be more genuinely gratifying than the appearance of the interior of the theatre itself which has undergone extensive alterations and changes during the summer months. Old patrons will hardly recognize the place as it will look like a brand new theatre to them and will compare favorably with the most modern and up-to-date amusement centres of the east.

Charles B. Stillwell of New York, artistic decorator, and a corps of workers have been engaged for several weeks past in re-fitting and painting the interior from top to bottom and their efforts have resulted in a most pleasing and artistic blending of shades. The prevailing color scheme is a combination of soft greys and copper-bronze tints. The magnificent mahogany staircase still retains its rich fine appearance.

The Central entrance has gone back to its former condition and may be used by reserve ticket holders. The ladies' and gents' rooms have been changed and improved and an expensive new lighting system installed, together with other important changes. This is the first time that the theatre has been so thoroughly renovated and no small measure of commendation is due owner and manager, William J. Schaeke, for the almost complete transformation that has resulted in the general surroundings. Associate Manager Charles E. Cook should also share in the credit to be given for the changes brought about.

The coming season marks the sixth successive season of stock at this theatre and the second under Mr. Schaeke. The opening attraction will be Oliver Morosini's successful after-the-war comedy drama, "Civilian Clothes." This play, enjoyed a phenomenal years' run in New York city as well as a successful engagement in Boston last spring and was only recently released for stock use. Lowell theatregoers are

WALL PAPER DEPT.
Wall Paper Talks
Grass Cloth Effects

Very satisfactory decorative effects may be secured by using a wall paper in grass cloth effects. These are copies of Japanese grass cloth which are selling at from four to ten dollars a roll. The imitations are very good and are reasonably priced. They come in all colors and are generally used with a cut-out border to set them off.

The first imitations of grass cloth came in what are called "crum grass"—that is with the pattern running across the strip. These have the same feel as the real grass cloth—namely that the seams are very apt to show, there being no exact match to these patterns. Later, however, we have been getting a lot of what are called "up and down" patterns in which the pattern runs lengthwise of the strip. These hang much better than the crum grass cloths because the pattern helps to hide the seams.

In our department we show mounted on display wings a great many grass cloth patterns. These wings give one a very good idea of what a pattern will look like when hung. All patterns are shown with their match borders but are sold with or without borders.

One of a series of helpful hints to those in need of Wall Paper.

Indeed fortunate in being privileged to see and enjoy this play at such an early date and at popular stock prices. The box office will open for public sale on Thursday, Sept. 2, but regular subscribers may renew their orders earlier if they so desire, through the mail.

The only members of last year's company who have been retained for the coming season are Miss Marguerite Fields, Miss Priscilla Knowles and Jack Bennett. Miss Fields' work as a leading woman is perhaps too well known to local playgoers to need comment at this time. Her return comes as a result of the enthusiastic and exacting request of her thousands of admirers hereabouts. The management saw 20 or more stock companies working during the summer months and none of the leading women could compare with Miss Fields. She has been summing in the Allegheny mountains, is fully rested and ready to take up the rather trying work of the stock season to come. Miss Knowles was a great favorite in comedy and character work last year and Jack Bennett, the character artist, will also assume the direction of the productions.

Of the new members, Milton Byron, the leading man, comes out of the west highly recommended. His early engagements were in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The season before last he played leading parts for 40 weeks at Portland, Oregon, and last season filled a 45 weeks' stock engagement at Portland, Me. He is good looking and possesses all of the assets necessary for a leading man. He is versatile and has scored marked success in comedy roles as well as in dramatic endeavors.

Miss Sarah Kyle, the second woman has spent two seasons with Poll and last year was at the Standard theatre, Philadelphia. Maxwell Driscoll, the second man who will play opposite to Mr. Byron and has been identified with the Poll circuit for several seasons, and Miss Florence Hill, the juvenile woman, was last year with Fred Woodbury, who has been engaged for character work and singing parts, was last season with the Myrtle-Harder Co. on the road. Mr. Woodbury is well known in Lowell, where he began his professional stage career. Wallace Mason and Katherine Hudson have been engaged for utility roles.

Charles B. Stillwell has been engaged as scenic artist. During the past summer months he has been teaching at the Metropolitan Museum Art school, New York city.

AMUSEMENT NOTES
By Theatres' Own Press Agents

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Always on the alert for anything that will interest its patrons the management of the local B. F. Keith theatre announces that one of its special features for the present week will be a motion picture reel showing "Honeymoon Run". Babe Ruth going through his various motions from the time he grasps his bat until he sends the horsehide pellet away for a home run. Ruth long since eclipsed all home-run records for a single season. These pictures of this famous ball player will differ from all others in that they will be presented first, at the regular speed, and later at a speed one-eighth of their regular. The pictures form a perfect analysis of motion; one can see every movement of the bat, the ball, the home run hitters ought to be fairly common in the days to come.

All this will be in addition to the regular double bill of seven acts. In front position will be placed the Gypsy Songsters, an admirable mixed quartet, who have won many plaudits for their splendid work. Their program will include not only some of the better known classics, but also the pick of the latest popular numbers. The scenic vaudeville of the act is described as wholly unusual.

Herschel Hendler, the aristocrat of vaudeville, will give his piano program, and there is none other of the vaudeville today who can present a program with more charm than he. One of his specialties consists in the showing of four famous composers rhapsodies today who can present a program, and it is a highly interesting one.

A pair of real live, musical comedy blue ribbons are Susan Tompkins and Carl McBride. Miss Tracey is petite and wholly dainty, and as a singer and dancer she leaves nothing to be desired. Her good musical comedy training has stood her in good stead. McBride is a first-rate dancer, who was at one time connected with "Three Twins" and "The Echo".

A violinist who scored a tremendous hit with Sousa's band, a few seasons ago, is Susan Tompkins. Miss Tompkins has had the very best of training, and she draws a bow that brings forth a velvety tone. Her technique is flawless, and her programs are of a kind to meet the requirements of all vaudeville audiences.

Now that bicycles are coming back again, it is wholly meet and proper to show what the Lorimer Hudson troupe can do in pedalling. There are six of the riders, two women being included in this number, and they turn out some amazingly difficult stunts.

"A Pair of Pink Stockings" causes all the laughter in the little skit played by Billy Chase and Charlotte LaTour. Billy Chase and Billy Dreyer will give their 20th Century Revue. In addition there will be the News Kingograms, Topics of the Day and a scenic picture.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

How rosin, which turned out to be entirely without foundation, caused the death of a man and nearly ruined the lives of his wife and a youth is revealed in "The World and I," the noted Cosmopolitan production at the Merrimack Square theatre Monday Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The abundance in the color and passions of the Latin countries. Alma Rubens is the featured player and Robert G. Vigoda directed the picture. The other feature for the first half of the week is "The Desperate Hero," starring popular Owen Moore. A comedy, the International News and Topics of the Day round out the bill.

THE STRAND

"The Virgin of Stamboul" one of the master productions of the year, with Priscilla Dean in the starring role, will be featured at The Strand for the first three days of the week. General Manager Soriero must be highly commended for his selection of such a feature for the opening of the regular season. Nothing better in its line could possibly be secured. Harry T. Morey in "The Gauntlet" is too be the other feature, and this too has a very element that will make for a superior-grade program. Besides this there is to be a new comedy and the latest Weekly issue, as well as musical numbers that will please all.

OWL THEATRE

Do you remember Jane Novak, the winsome little lass who made such a hit in "The River's End" at the Old theatre some time ago? Well, she is back at the Owl in a new picture called "The Golden Trail," another story of the frozen north. Everyone likes the great north, with its rugged men and women, its tendency to bring out the elemental forces of man, and all that is good and bad in human nature. This is one of these stories. Also on the bill for the first three days this week is a great big three-star comedy that it seems the country can't get enough of—"Tillie's Punctured Romance," with Charlie Chaplin, Marie Dressler and Mabel Normand. What these three can't do isn't worth doing.

The serial for the first three days of the week, as you may recall, is "The Third Eye," that fascinating story of the motion picture studio, with queer and exciting things happening all the time. Last week, Eileen Percy was caught by her dress in a machine stalled on the track while a train pounded down on her. How does she get out? Come and see it. A Sunbath comedy and shorter stuff fill out this big bill.

The bushel measure was instituted by statute in 1256, at the time of King Henry III of England.

The North American copperhead snake vibrates the tip of its tail when excited.

"I am most grateful for the benefit my wife has received after using Sister Mary's Compound. She had the 'flu' and the doctors here pronounced her tubercular and could not seem to help her. How California Autoists Signal To Man in Machine Just Behind

A California auto driver's "hand-out" to the man behind, indicating turns or stop. State officials have reckoned that this signal system, enforced by law, has saved innumerable accidents. Certainly it has done much to quiet the driver's jumping nerves and to increase the pleasures of the road.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—Look out for the man behind!

And keep your eyes on the man in front!

California auto drivers believe in letting the other fellow know which way they're going to turn and thus avoid accident. They talk with their hands, according to an explicit code.

The California system of auto signaling, established by law, provides:

that each driver must indicate with arm motions just what he is going to do.

Automobile officials and police say that the growing use of this signal system has served to cut down accidents materially, as well as to remove much of the nervous tension of driving.

Here's how it's done: To signal a turn to the left the driver's left hand is extended straight out; to the right, the hand is extended out and the forearm up; to slow down or stop, the hand is held downward.

On right hand drive cars the system is just the opposite.

Since no driver likes to feel another car smash into him from behind when he halts suddenly in answer to a signal from the traffic cop, the system is most rigidly observed by all.

A signal in time often saves nine!

LACE PATTERNS IN THIS WEEK'S DESIGN

Chain 5 stitches and form a ring, chain 1 and double crochet into the ring; chain 2, double crochet into the ring; continue until you have made seven spaces.

Chain 1 and double crochet four times into each space, making a shell by taking off the first two threads on the first stitch, holding the last two. Continue in a like manner until you have finished the last double crochet. Then take the eight threads left on the needle with just one stitch. Chain 4 stitches between each shell.

One single crochet stitch, 1 chain stitch, then double crochet 5 times with a chain stitch between each double crochet stitch, 1 single crochet stitch to finish the half circle.

Continue until each space has a half circle then, to finish, chain 5 and catch it between each double crochet stitch completely around the wheel.

What the U.S. Rubber Company has done for the Small Car Owner

PROGRESS in any industry is marked by certain well defined steps—each step a positive contribution to the well-being or economy of part or all of the people affected by the industry.

No more positive benefit with respect to a saving in time and money has ever been conferred on the small car owners of this country than the creation of the clincher type of tire.

A product of the foresight and experience of the United States Rubber Company—the oldest and largest rubber organization in the world.

The United States Rubber Company has never assumed that because a man owned a small car he was necessarily lacking in a true appreciation of quality.

U.S. 30 x 3 1/2-inch tires are built as well and as carefully and as honestly as the largest size tires are built.

In a factory devoted exclusively to this size tire.

By workmen trained and skilled in the production of Clincher Tires.

Go to a legitimate dealer when you want a small size tire.

He knows what the United States Rubber Company has done in the interests of the small car owner. And he knows the wisdom of putting the small car owner's interests above his own.

Telephone Number Changes

Every new issue of the Lowell telephone directory contains on the average 900 changes in telephone numbers.

Between directory issues many telephone users do not make a record of the changed numbers they frequently call.

This necessitates the frequent calling of the Information operator and unnecessary work on the part of both subscribers and operators.

It will assist in maintaining good telephone service if a record of such number changes is kept near your telephone; and if telephone numbers, particularly party-line numbers, are eliminated from letter heads, business cards and advertising of all kinds.

CURRY GLASSY BOXER

Sensational New York Boy
May be Seen in Lowell in Near Future

The following letter and clipping regarding Willie Curry, the sensational New York boxer, who may soon be seen in this city, will be of interest to the fans:

The Letter

August 25, 1920.
Sporting Editor, The Sun, Lowering of result of 10-round bout between Willie Curry and Billy Murphy, in which Curry received the decision.

I am a boxing fan and am negotiating with Matchmaker Eddie Harvey for a bout at his club. Curry has boxed all the best 150-pound boys in this locality without receiving one adverse decision and it gives a chance to box before the people of your city I am sure will prove a sensation.

Trusting you will use the above, I am very truly yours, 155 East 145th st, New York City.

The Clipping

Murphy entered the ring first, and was followed a moment later by Curry. Fred Fulton and others were introduced and the ring was cleared. The boys agreed to shake hands coming out and after receiving their instructions, went to their respective corners in the ring.

The bell rang and the two boys advanced toward each other and shook hands and then started one of the prettiest exhibitions of boxing that I have ever witnessed and I have seen some of the best in the past 15 years.

Instead of stepping back, as he usually does, Curry started to plunge right after Murphy, and, to the surprise of all immediately took the aggressive. He kept a steady rain of blows to Murphy's body, shifting occasionally with blows to Murphy's jaw. Of course the sturdy little West New Brighton battler resisted but as much as he tried he could not keep Curry back. Round after round they fought like two wild cats. The referee would pry them from a clinch, and no sooner than they had parted, Curry would plunge in again, driving tremendous blows to body and face. In one round Curry caught Murphy with three vicious right crosses, and Murphy seemed in danger and held. Curry was working like a madman with both hands. He tried to put his man away, but couldn't. The bell rang ending the round.

Murphy's attack was the same as he always puts up, pumping both hands to the body and, like Curry, occasionally shifting to the face. But as I said before it was Curry who took the aggressive this time and kept it up until the end of the bout.

Summing up the bout, it is my opinion that Curry had the better of the first, second, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and tenth rounds. Murphy took the third, and the fourth and ninth were even.

AMERICAN OARSMEN WIN OVER BRITISH

BRUSSELS, Aug. 30. (By Associated Press.)—The American eight-oared crew that from the Naval academy defeated the British eight in the final of the Olympic race for eight-oared boats with coxswains yesterday. The Americans covered the distance in 6 minutes, 5 seconds to the Englishmen's 6 minutes, 54.5 seconds.

The time was a new world's record for 2000 meters. Jack Kelly of the Vesper Boat club, Philadelphia, single sculls champion of the United States, defeated J. Beresford, Jr., of the British sculler, in the final of the single sculling race. Kelly's time was 7 minutes, 35 seconds and Beresford's 7 minutes, 36 seconds.

Notwithstanding his hard singles event, Kelly doubled with the American, Paul Costello, for the double sculls, the pair winning easily by five lengths from Italy after taking the lead at 1000 meters.

Leader Crew Hauled Down

The eight-oared event was the greatest race of the day. The leader crew, representing Great Britain, took a slight lead which it increased to half a length at the 1000 meters. Both crews were rowing 33 strokes a minute. Here the American midshipmen increased their power and after each crew had alternately taken the lead, spurred ahead 150 meters from the finish. The Americans won by a half-length, sitting up and fresh, while the English eight crossed the line bent over and utterly rowed out.

In the single sculls Kelly crossed the finish line a full length ahead of Beresford, winner of the Diamond sculls at the Henley regatta. But it was a hard race. Beresford jumped into the lead at the start and gained steadily until he was a length to the good at 750 meters. Here Kelly began to move up and 150 meters from the finish was on even terms.

Kelly's last spurt wore down the English champion, who faded away, finishing a boat length behind. Both men were exhausted at the end, but Beresford was in worse shape than the American. They were too tired even to shake hands.

The six-year veteran combination of Switzerland proved too strong for the Americans in the four-oared event, the Swiss winning by three lengths, with the Americans a length and a half ahead of the Norwegian crew.

Europeans Hard Hit

There was much betting on the eight-oared and single scull events, and the European nations, as a rule, backed the British contestants, with the result that they lost considerable money.

The regatta was witnessed by a large crowd on both banks of the canal, including Brand Whitlock, the American ambassador, who greeted the American winners and was photographed with them.

Following are the summaries in yesterday's rowing finals:

Four-oared race—Won by Switzerland; American, second; Norway, third. Time 6m, 54s.

Single sculls—Won by Kelly, American; Beresford, England, second. Time 7m, 35s.

Pair-oared with coxswain—Won by Italy; France, second; Switzerland, third. Time 7m, 55s.

Double sculls, without coxswain—Won by America, Kelly and Costello; Italy, second, and France, third. Time 7m, 36s.

Eight-oared race—Won by America; England second. Time, 6m, 5s.

America did not enter the double-oared event with coxswain, which was won by Italy in the last hundred meters, with the French and Swiss crews collapsing and paddling at the finish.

Wm Athletic Meet

COLOMBES, France, Aug. 30. (By Associated Press.)—The United States again yesterday carried away first honors in a monster athletic meet organized by the Union of Sporting Federations of France. The event had been widely advertised in the French newspapers during the past week as "a revenge for the Antwerp Olympic Games."

The American team scored a total of 124 points, Sweden 125 and France 78.

GILLESPIES WORK INTO FIRST PLACE TIE

With the Gillespies creating a tie in the league leadership by their victory over the West Ends on the South common Saturday afternoon by the score of 9 to 1, the Twilight League enters upon its final week tonight with the supremacy of the four teams in the organization very much in doubt. The Gillespies and South Ends have each won 5 and lost 2 games.

The schedule comes to an end tomorrow night. Tonight the South Ends play the West Ends and tomorrow the Gillespies meet the Knights of Columbus. If both leaders win their game the race will remain a tie and a playoff will be necessary. The same will hold true if both teams lose. If one wins and the other loses, the winner will be declared Twilight champion. Neither the K. of C. nor West Ends has any chance of landing first place honors.

The Gillespies won Saturday's game by hitting freely the three West End pitchers who faced them—Pomfret, Mulino and E. Connors. Pomfret pitched for the Gillespies and had things his own way practically the entire distance.

CALLAHAN AND TENDLER MATCHED

LAWRENCE, Aug. 30.—Law Tandler of Philadelphia and Frankie Callahan of Boston, formerly of Brooklyn, America's foremost legitimate lightweight, will meet in a 12-round battle at Cuddy Brothers' arena, Labor day afternoon. In addition to this bout, Matchmaker Johnny Cuddy has arranged a fine preliminary program, including one six and two eight rounders and the program will start at 7 o'clock. Popular assessments will prevail.

For several weeks, many clubs throughout the country have been dickering for this match, but the Atlas A.A. matchmaker beat them all to it and signed the boys up for his club in Lawrence. That it will be the hectic classic of the decade is certain. Both boys are slashing good fighters, know the game from A to Z and as each boy possesses a splendid weapon in either hand, the fans are sure of witnessing a mill which will be crowded with action.

Bert Jones of Revere will meet Mike Castle of Lawrence in an eight rounder. Kid Thomas and Barney Burke will swap punches for eight frames. A six rounder will open the program.

A. W. C. NINE DROPS HARD FOUGHT GAME

In a highly exciting and well played game at Abbot park in Grantville Saturday afternoon the Plymouth Rubber Co. team of Canton defeated the Abbot Worsteds Co. 6 to 5. Opportunity hitting gave the visitors their victory, but the result was in doubt until the end of the final inning. Summerville was on the mound for the Abbots and Williams for the Plymouth outfit. The latter received the better support. Jimmy Liston featured at the bat with four safeties.

Next Saturday the Abbots will play the Taylor club of Nashua, N. H., at Grantville.

PRICE OF COAL

As a result of the increased freight rates the price of coal takes another jump and is now selling at figures for which there is no justification. The department of justice has given out the statement that an early drop in the price of coal may be expected. Simultaneous with this announcement comes the other positive statement that the price of coal has been materially advanced, owing to the higher freight rates. Nothing except some form of profiteering can explain why manufacturers have to pay $20 a ton for bituminous coal and why hard coal is now approaching that figure.

The same cause, we presume, still operates that sent the price upward in the first place, namely, heavy export of coal. There is no excuse for allowing the coal supply needed at home to be shipped abroad, just because high prices are offered by the exporters. We notice that British agents are exporting large quantities of coal from this country and selling some of it to other countries than England at exorbitant prices.

Here is a despatch that indicates further British activity in the direction of corraling the coal supply of the United States:

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—J. H. Gardner, managing director of the Colliery Investment Trust, Ltd., the British coal company which has placed contracts for 35,000,000 tons of American coal, said today that his company was planning to buy large mining properties in this country. It is reported that the American coal already bought by the British concern was purchased at approximately $5 a ton.

Some months ago it was announced, through the press that England had secured control of practically all of the great oil fields of the world outside the United States. Whether the oil supply of Mexico on which this country has to rely to a great extent, is included in the British deals, is not certain; but it may be assumed if there is any way of securing control of it, John Bull will find it out and clinch it in his own behalf. That is a commercial transaction of course and thoroughly legitimate. It shows to what an extent the British take time by the forelock in providing for future needs. While they are looking out for their own interests, we are allowing the domestic coal supply to be exported to such an extent that the price goes bounding upward. The mine operators give out figures to show that their charges are not responsible for the high prices. If not, then it is due to profiteering and it is high time the department of justice did something more than talk of what it will do. Had an embargo been placed on export of coal, the prices would not have reached such excessive figures.

UNDERMINING GOVERNMENT

Casting unjust reflections upon public officials and imputing unworthy motives as the reason for their acts, is one of the sure ways of promoting the cause of the enemies of organized government. Highly respectable gentlemen and newspapers seem never to get over the idea that it is wholly legitimate and proper for them to condemn, whether justly or unjustly it matters not so long as their ends are served, the activities of agents of the government that do not meet with their approval.

Very recently the Boston News Bureau, in an article dealing with the closing of the American Woolen company's mills, had this to say: "What the public is interested in is, who caused the cancellation of the orders that closed the mills? The answer is simple—Attorney General Palmer in his pre-convention campaign, and seeking to fix the responsibility of high-priced clothing, indicted the American Woolen company for profiteering."

The inference is plain enough that it is intended to charge that the attorney general used his high official position to serve his personal ends by bringing about judicial action that finally resulted in throwing some thousands of people out of employment.

As has been previously stated in The Sun, no court has yet passed upon the question of whether the American Woolen company has been guilty of profiteering. Under the presumption of the law, it is innocent until it is proved otherwise.

The fact seems to be, that the attorney general had in his possession evidence that he believed warranted bringing the officials of the American Woolen company into court on a profiteering charge. Under his oath of office as a public official he could follow but one course and that was to present the evidence before a grand jury. Mr. Palmer did not return an indictment against the woolen company. He performed his sworn duty, and the members of the grand jury reached the conclusion that the evidence that was presented for its consideration warranted the placing of an indictment on the court records. It is clear then that there was some evidence which, unexplained, offered at least an indication that Mr. Wood's manufacturing concern had been guilty of profiteering. Is it just to impute unworthy motives to Mr. Palmer because he took up the case and handled it as he did? Could he have done otherwise and remained true to his oath of office?

INCREASE IN EXPORTS

Recent trade reports show a very material increase in the export of manufactures from the United States. They have formed 56 per cent of our exports in the current calendar year as against 43 per cent in the same months last year. The total value of manufactures exported in 1920 is the largest ever recorded, being $1,000,000,000 as against $1,000,000,000 in the year 1914.

Textile products exported in the fiscal year aggregated $185,000,000 against $328,000,000 in 1919 and $51,000,000 showing a 500 per cent increase over 1914. The export of commercial cars in 1920 was $42,000,000 against $33,000,000 last year and $7,000,000 in 1914. Exports of cotton goods in the past fiscal year amounted to $364,000,000 or $1,000,000 a day against $232,000,000 a year ago and $51,000,000 in 1914.

These figures indicate a growing demand for manufactured products which will promote and stabilize manufacturing industries in this country. The foreign nations are knocking at our doors for the products they urgently need and in order to meet the demand, in addition to supplying our domestic needs, our factories must keep busy. There is no danger, therefore, of any prolonged dullness in any line of business, not even in the shoe industry which has been rather dull for some months past. The exports in this line in the past fiscal year amounted to $292,000,000 against $183,000,000 last year and $8,000,000 in 1914. Thus the dullness of our industries is looking upward with a prospect of active resumption in the near future unless retarded by labor troubles.

FIRST STREET DISGRACE

The condition of First street is a standing disgrace to the city of Lowell. It is rather humiliating to find autoists, who, returning from long trips, complain bitterly that they nowhere encountered any section of a highway so rough or so dangerous as First street. Unfortunately there has been some expense for not undertaking the repairs, for the reason that it was expected the river boulevard would be completed this summer. That hope was blasted by a change in the plans under which the boulevard will curve around an athletic field, the plan for which exists as yet only in the minds of some of our city officials. That is why we have no First street boulevard and why the First street highway has not been repaired. Although Hon. John N. Cole, state commissioner of public works, has interested himself in the project of making the boulevard secondary to the athletic field, yet it is still in the air and the old road is without the much needed repairs. The people of this city are beginning to think that whether or not the new riverbank route is laid out and completed next year—it cannot be well begun this year—the old road should be made safe by a coat of macadam if no more expensive method of repair is adopted.

The disgrace of our responsibility for the worst section of the state highway from New Hampshire to the sea has been borne far too long as a result of putting the work off because the new road was contemplated. There is no probability that it will get beyond that stage in less than a year. Hence the necessity of putting the First street road in passable condition.

If public servants are chosen for a certain purpose, to advocate certain reforms, to favor certain laws and to oppose others, there is no reason why they should not be held responsible for any lack of fidelity in carrying out the wishes of the electorate. A law holding elected officials to their party pledges, whether right or wrong, expedient or otherwise, would wipe out a great deal of political trickery and treachery. It would bring elected officials to a realizing sense of responsibility and might even reduce to a minimum, the practice of political prevarication.

What is the use of dreaming dreams just to have them shattered. Just when the drop in the price of sugar had begun to encourage people to think they could have a supply of the proper kind of sauce to go with their Thanksgiving turkeys, along comes the report that the cranberry crop is short.

Just think of it; there are people now living who remember kicking when the price of milk was raised from six to seven cents every fall, and there are some of these, too, who would be blackballed on the score of youth if they applied for membership in the Oldest Inhabitants' club.

The Road to Laughter

This is the road to laughter—Hands clean from the grime of shame.

No sin that may follow after, No smudge on an honored name, Kindness and open dealing, And though you may weep awhile, In days when the laughter's pealing You shall be free to smile.

This is the road to gladness—Courage in time of test, Faith in the hours of sadness, Believing that all is best; With never a wrong behind you And none who may doubt your worth.

With the glorious joys shall find you You may give up yourself to mirth. For laughter and joy are treasures Which those who are false must Shame offers men tawdry pleasures But better the hurts which bruise, And better the failures which burn, I down where the road is burning They leave us the right to smile.

For this is the road to laughter—Honor a truth, my boy, For never, if shame comes after, Can man know an hour of joy. Sorrow shall set you weeping, And burdens shall fret you while, But in the name you're keeping Lies ever your right to smile.

The Non-Producer

Of the many factors that enter into the solution of the day's economic problems, there is one—the non-producer—that comes in for less attention than it deserves. The people are constantly harassed by myriads of reformers. The country owes a great deal to some of them, and there are a few who could not be dispensed with if a balance of progressive social sentiment is to be maintained. There is a vast army of barnacles, however, that could serve society much better by getting down to productive labor. They live by their wits, mulcting the philanthropist on the one hand and hoodwinking the public on the other.—Indianapolis News.

Eureka!

While psychologists, sociologists and humanitarians are trying to dig out what is the trouble with the world, we have quietly gone about and discovered the root of the whole trouble.

What we need is an international sense of humor.

All the miseries of the world and the misunderstandings that lead to war are caused by the inability of the various races of the world to laugh in unison.

An inter-racial Ha! Ha! would create a universal sense of good nature, tolerance and understanding.

We need a universal strike against all forms of national humor. We need a Laughter "Internationale."

We should have a covenant of laughter-lovers, with a binding treaty religiously arrived at.

One has but to sit at a side-splitting comedy in a theatre to feel the tremendous power of a common humorous perspective. In the simultaneous guffaw of two thousand persons all the smallnesses, meannesses and surface differences dissolve.

If we could all laugh together at most of the things we consider serious in the theatre of the world the militarist, the red and the political patriot would be out of jobs.—Benjamin De Casseres in Cartoons Magazine.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Some of the local election commissioners were discussing the announcement of Secretary Langtry that women will be eligible to vote at the state primaries next month and the conversation turned to the effect the extension of suffrage will have on local primaries and elections. One very poignant remark made by one of the commissioners was that the male precinct officers hereafter will be obliged to get along without their pipes and cigars while on duty, for surely they will not be so ungallant as to smoke while members of the fair sex are marking their ballots. In years past it has not been unusual for a voter to walk into a cloud of smoke when he went to cast his ballot but with the advent of the fair sex, tobacco will have to be foregone until it comes time for counting the votes. And then there usually isn't time for such pleasure.

APPROVE COX RECORD

Possessed of Fuller Understanding of Needs of Working People, Says A.F. of L.

WASHINGTON, August 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—Organized labor's non-partisan political campaign committee, comparing the public records of the republican and democratic presidential nominees, declared in a report made public yesterday, that Governor Cox had "shown himself possessed of a fuller understanding of the needs of the working people."

The report, signed by Samuel Gompers, president, Matthew Wolf, vice president, and Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, is the first ever made on presidential candidates by a federation committee.

Taking up the senatorial record of Senator Harding, the committee declared that on 18 measures dealing with labor his score stood: Favorable 7; unfavorable 10; paired unfavorably 1.

The republican nominee's vote on labor issues during his term in the state senate of Ohio, as reported by the committee, stood: Favorable 6; unfavorable 0. In this connection the report said:

"Senator Harding's record in Washington affords a better opportunity for analysis of his legislative views than does his record in the Ohio senate by reason of the fact that his term of service extended for a longer period of time, during which he was called upon to consider a wider variety of measures."

Cox Favorable On All

Reviewing Governor Cox's record, the report said that while governor of Ohio, he had "acted upon 53 measures of interest to labor without acting on a single one adversely to labor." As a member of the 62nd congress, the governor was recorded as voting "favorable" to labor on two measures, the only ones listed.

After reviewing and quoting at length from the utterances of the candidates on labor issues in their speeches of acceptance, the committee summarized its findings in this language:

"There can be but one conclusion based upon a careful and impartial survey of the actions and declarations of the candidates. Governor Cox has shown himself possessed of a fuller understanding of the needs of the working people, a readier response to their needs and to their proposals and a broader statesmanship in his public discussions of the problems of the industrial world."

"In addition to his superior understanding, Governor Cox is the candidate on a platform which labor has declared 'marks a measure of progress not found in the republican platform' and the planks of which 'more nearly approximate the desired declaration of human rights than do the planks found in the republican platform.'"

"Not only in the specific utterances relating directly to questions held paramount by labor is the comparison favorable to Governor Cox. His progressive and constructive viewpoint holds throughout his declaration of public questions, though he slips at times into that ambiguity which unfortunately has marked to a greater or less degree the platforms of both parties and the utterances of both candidates."

"It must be exasperating to the whole American public that political parties bidding for the suffrage of the whole citizenship can not state in definite terms what are their proposals and what are their pledges. The same exasperation must be felt regarding many of the utterances of candidates. However, the viewpoint of Governor Cox is, we find, more clearly expressed and less open to the criticism of lack of clarity."

Record of Fidelity to Humanity

"Moreover, and as an argument that admits of no qualifying or denial, there is Governor Cox's record as governor of Ohio during which he acted upon 53 measures of interest to labor without acting on a single one adversely to labor.

"This is a record of fidelity to humanity, of understanding of the needs of the great masses of the people that has few equals in American political life."

"The American labor movement asks from no man or woman a pledge of political conduct. It seeks to dictate to none. Its field is limited, and properly so, to furnishing to the rank and file the information upon which it may base conclusions."

"There is no intention to depart here from that rule which binds the officers individually as well as collectively in serving, the great labor movement. But it would be a sad and unforgivable remissness of duty in this crucial hour were the facts not presented with the utmost freedom and completeness."

"With the workers of America vent the right of deciding for which candidate they shall vote. As they vote—whether it be well and wisely, or with a disregard for the facts of life as they are—they will determine to a large degree the welfare and progress of the working people of our republic in the years just ahead."

Harding's Record in Senate

The senate measures on which Senator Harding was given a "favorable" rating were:

Passage of immigration restriction bill and its repassage over the president's veto; war risk insurance; civil rights bill; woman suffrage; motion to increase appropriation for bureau of conciliation, department of labor, and his vote on an amendment to the retirement bill prohibiting affiliation of federal employees with organized labor.

Among his "unfavorable" votes the committee report included these:

Motion to strike labor charter from League of Nations; motion to extend federal control of railroads for two years; final passage of railroad law, making strikes unlawful; Borland amendment increasing hours of government employees, and his senate pair on accepting the railroad bill conference report.

Among the 53 measures the committee listed as those Governor Cox had acted upon "favorably" while governor, were bills providing for an eight-hour day on public works; regulating the hours of employment of women; workmen's compensation act, prohibiting the employers of labor from interfering with political activities of their employees; relating to safety appliances upon railway locomotives and cars; providing for the prevention of occupational diseases, and providing for the creation of an industrial commission to have supervision over all state departments relating to labor.

NIGHT AIR BEST FOR AUTO MOTOR

The cool night air of summertime places the motor at its best, according to A. Ludlow Clayden, engineering authority.

Being cooler than day air, night air will produce a heavier charge and more powerful impulse at each explosion, says Clayden. It keeps the motor cool, and even the oil does not heat so fast as during the day. Also, night air is damp, and damp air—not too damp, of course, produces the best kind of an explosion.

Clayden believes a motor is at its best in an atmosphere of about 40 to 50 degrees.

A very pretty miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. Fred J. Mulvey of Lawrence street last Tuesday evening, when her sister, Miss Helen Farrell, was the recipient of many beautiful gifts of silverware, linen and cut glass. Miss Farrell expressed her appreciation and refreshments were served and games were played.

Greater London To Build 50,000 Homes To Head Off Period of Unrest

A scene along Ducane rd in Old Oakes estate in London, showing homes which were built by the London County Council. Inset is a picture of Lord Eustace Percy, chairman of the County Council building loan committee.

BY MILTON BRONNER,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—"Take various bits of ground. Clear them. Build homes on them. Distribute around until the patient is better."

This is a tremendous medical prescription.

The patient is the giant city of this world.

The doctor is the London county council.

The cost is a quarter of a billion dollars.

The government authorities, in carrying upon this gigantic undertaking, have reasoned thus:

Lack of houses means homeless people.

Restless people mean people who start to agitators.

People who listen to agitators become revolutionists.

Revolutionists mean a break-down of ordered liberty and government.

Let's build homes.

The result is that the London county council, alive to its responsibilities and clothed with full power by the parliament is seeking to build homes for the people.

Greater London consists of 23 boroughs, each of which has its own mayor and council. But the boroughs cannot spend more than an English penny (2 cents) in the pound ($4.86) of taxes collected, upon housing schemes.

However, the London county council, which is the supreme body in Greater London, can come to the aid of the boroughs and it is doing so by various loans. Not long ago it gave the boroughs help to the tune of $5,000,000. Just at present it is engaged in floating a popular six percent housing loan for $25,000,000.

The boroughs will build and own the houses and will be the landlords.

In some cases the tenants will be allowed to buy the houses in 15 or 20 annual instalments.

Plan 50,000 Homes

Ultimately the plan is for the boroughs, aided by the London county council, to build 50,000 new homes. It is estimated these houses will cost about $50,000 each.

They will be built 8 to 12 to the acre, so as to allow for little front yards and back yard gardens. They will, in the main, have two or three bedrooms, a living room, sitting room and kitchen.

The county council will continue to float loans as long as the building program is uncompleted and as long as the market will absorb its loans.

The chairman of the loan committee is Lord Eustace Percy, and among his colleagues are the labor mayors of some of the London boroughs.

Old Oakes estate is a good example of what the county council can do. Here, on a site of 54 acres, 14 acres have been developed and 319 cottages built. Six hundred more are to be added.

Future plans are to make Dagenham, an estate of 1000 acres, the first "made to order" town in the world. Twenty thousand houses are planned for this place, which will probably mean a town of 100,000 people. Its estimated cost is $150,000,000.

Some 150 acres of the site will be reserved for park space and 50 acres for playing fields. Sixty-eight acres will be taken up by 25 schools and there will be allowances for boulevards and wide avenues.

Smaller places will be developed as follows: Rochampton, 1200 houses; Bellingham, 2000 houses; Grove Park, 5000 houses, and Castelnau, 1000 houses.

Dempsey Still Ring Tiger and Ready To Meet Challenger Billy Miske —Layoff of 14 Months Hasn't Slowed Down Socking Champion

BY DEAN SNYDER

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Aug. 25.—Champion Jack Dempsey is still the tiger fighter in the ring and the boy outside it.

If a fourteen months' layoff has made any difference in his fighting prowess it doesn't show in any of his work as he goes about the daily routine of training for his Labor Day mill here with Billy Miske of St. Paul.

No boxer ever got more actual re-employment out of fighting than the present champion. The only trouble with Dempsey is that he has to be held back from overdoing. He tears into his sparring partners like it was a real fight.

Dempsey doesn't know how to pull his punches, as any of those who have boxed with him, including Jess Willard, will testify.

Rumors that he had grown fat and soft while making pictures is without credence. His exhibition boxing in New York served to put him on edge and to swing him back into his old stride.

His weight varies from two to three pounds over 150 pounds. He says he'll bring it down to 137 before Sept. 6. There is no apparent superfluous fat on his muscular body.

How Tweakened

When asked if he believed he was as good as when he won the title, Dempsey thought a little while before answering.

"That is hard to say," he finally replied. "I ought to be. I'm a year older now. That ought to toughen me. I feel stronger, and then I've developed more around the back and shoulders."

"If there is any difference in me now then when I fought at Toledo it may be that my eyes aren't quite as quick, perhaps, as they were then. A fighter has to be going regular in order to keep his eyes in trim. Miske is a strong, tough fellow. They say he is heavier and in better health than when I boxed him at both St. Paul and Philadelphia two years ago. I hope he fights me for those are the kind of birds I like best."

His camp is pitched within a hundred yards of the battle arena. Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons, the man who has sunk a cold $100,000 in this Labor Day card already, has turned over his cottage to Dempsey and his retinue. Charley White used the same camp in preparation for his bout with Benny Leonard.

Likes the Water

Dempsey drinks a lot of the Benton Harbor mineral water. There is a pump at the rear of his cottage where he gets it fresh and sparkling from deep down in the Michigan sands.

He starts the day's work with a five-mile run, accompanied by the ever faithful Bill Tate and Joe Gans, his colored sparring partners. The roads are soft and sandy. The big fellow can't make much speed. This is the only feature of the training side he doesn't like. The sand slows him up and what he wants most is speed. He rises at 6:30, eats a light breakfast, and goes on the road at 8 o'clock.

Ben Smith takes him in tow after the road work. Ben hasn't a peer any place, probably, as a rubber. What he says goes. Dempsey may make suggestions as to how he wants things done, but that's as far as it comes. Ben knows his business and does it.

Loosening Hours

After the rubdown Jack has a little time of his own. There is a plum tree in the yard and you'll find the world's heavyweight champion out there anything possible for the comfort of the visiting players and played their hospitality string out to the limit. The weather was fine and everything pertaining to the tourney was a success.

JESSE GUILFORD

the cognomen of "Steve Gun" through several youthful seasons on the links and recognized as one of the most formidable amateurs of the east, he is very, very human.

Guilford's game over the local course was already in the extreme. Playing with W. C. Spargo of the Boston Traveler, Jesse's thoughts seemed far afield at times (perhaps they were concerned upon the national amateur open over the Engineers' club course next week) but, whatever the reason, he slipped up on crippled putts of two and three-foot lengths and expressed his disgust with a muttered "damn."

The Woodlander was given a battle for low gross honors by W. A. Falvey laying unattached and Henry J. Thompson won the best net prize, with shooters scored 76 and 77 respectively. Thompson won the best net prize, with J. J. Ward, a clubmate, second.

There was much in Guilford's game to applaud and almost equally as much to condone. In all but one or two instances in his 13 holes, his tee shots were gems and some of them of prodigious length. For instance, he leaped into one No. 8 that carried the far corner way down the fairway and came to rest just a few yards from the well-known ditch. It was a regular he-poke and the gallery gods gave him his due. His work from the rough whenever his ball wandered from the orthodox line was magnificent and in fact from fairway to fairway he was supreme, but on the greens he flammered and frittered away shots like a schoolboy. Not one long putt went down in the writer's memory while we have vivid pictures of three-footers which didn't even travel up to the cup on the proper line.

A perfectly fair criticism of Guilford's game, if one has the temerity to attempt such, is that he is fed up on golf and is stale, much after the fashion of an over-trained track man. He is enough the natural golfer to overcome such a handicap in his long name, but it crops out near the cup.

Spargo looted around 22 13 handicap and naturally is not to be reckoned with for a gross prize in any tournament, but for all that he was guilty of a number of superior shots, particularly on approaches, which he seems to master with unusual ease.

At the close of the tournament Guilford and Spargo played nine holes paired against Henry Thompson and Howard N. Morton and the match ended even-Stephen.

The officials of Mt. Pleasant did ev-anything possible for the comfort of the visiting players and played their hospitality string out to the limit. The weather was fine and everything pertaining to the tourney was a success.

IN POLICE COURT

Man Fined For Gaming On the Lord's Day

Wanda Ali, Mustafa Hamid, Abraham Hamid and Hassan Baker, arrested by Officers P. B. Clark, Winn and Owen Conway about 1 P. M. Sunday morning in a house in Front street, and charged in police court this morning before Judge Fisher with being present at a game on the Lord's Day, were fined $5 each. In his rush to get away from the officers, one of the players jumped through a window in the third story to the ground and as a result sustained injury to his ankle which necessitated the use of a cane this morning. Officer Conway, who gave chase to the fugitive, found him in the house of a neighbor, hiding beneath a couch. About 1:45 o'clock Sunday morning Officers Conway, O'More, J. H. Clark and O. Conway raided another house on George street and arrested Peter Crofton, James Casper, Joseph Alex, Ignas Nucka, and Charles Klack for gaming on the Lord's Day. They were each fined $5 in court this morning.

William J. Cates, arrested by Constables Vinal and Buchanan of Chelmsford late Saturday night, was charged with drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was fined $50 on the latter complaint and had the former placed on file.

James F. Batho, charged with breaking and entering and the larceny of automobile tires, was continued until next Thursday for trial under $1000 bonds. He was arrested by Lieut. Petrie, Sergt. Dwyer and Patrolman Doolley, Saturday night.

Charles H. Wood, Jr., and Beatrice Beauchard, charged with illegal cohabitation, were each fined $20. Officer Conway figured in this case.

Of the long list of drunks taken in over the week-end only one or two were released by the probation officer.

Patrick J. Reardon, of North Chelmsford, pleaded guilty of drunkenness and was given two weeks to pay a fine of $15.

Thomas Murphy, arrested by Officer Lane Saturday afternoon on Merrimack street, was fined $10 for drunkenness. It was Murphy's first offense but since the officer reported that the defendant was insulting women on the street, the court imposed a fine.

Joseph Burke, David Pyne and Thomas Egan were fined $15 each for drunkenness. The latter offender is on a suspended sentence to the state farm. Patrick McMahon was fined $5 for drunkenness, while a drunkenness complaint against Matthew Marshall brought down a suspended sentence to the house of correction.

Mike Alexander, arrested this morning
